

CODE OF BUSINESS ETHICS

Aevi

ACHIEVING OUR GOALS THE RIGHT WAY

THIS CODE OF BUSINESS ETHICS PROVIDES AN OVERVIEW TO OUR EMPLOYEES, SUPPLIERS AND BUSINESS PARTNERS ABOUT OUR COMMITMENT TO DOING THE RIGHT THING. HERE AT AEVI, WE EXPECT EVERYONE TO:

- Exercise sound judgment;
- Avoid questionable conduct;
- Ask questions when unsure how to handle a situation;
- Lead by example and teach others to do the same;
- Follow all Company policies and procedures;
- Report misconduct to managers or the compliance Manager
- Never retaliate against anyone for raising ethical concerns; and
- Cooperate with any reviews by the Company.

KEY POINTS ABOUT OUR CODE

When and to whom does the Code of Business Ethics apply?

- Our Code of Business Ethics (the “Code”) applies to Aevi International, and all of our activities and to all of our subsidiaries and affiliates (collectively “Aevi” or the “Company”).
- This Code requires compliance with all applicable laws. Although the Code highlights numerous specific requirements, it is impossible to predict all scenarios that an employee may encounter. If you are ever unsure of the appropriate course of conduct, please contact the Legal or Ethics & Compliance teams or one of our Aevi resources.
- Our Code applies to all of Aevi’s directors, officers, employees, agents and contractors and we refer to all of them as “employees” in this Code. In addition, we expect our suppliers, distributors, customers and other business partners to act ethically and in a manner consistent with our Code.
- Any waiver of this Code for directors or executive officers may be made only by the Company board or a board committee.

Potential Wrongdoing Must be reported

- Any employee who is aware of a violation – or even suspects a violation – of this Code, other Aevi policies or the law must report it. Failing to report potential wrongdoing (or reporting a violation in bad faith) is itself a breach of this Code and may be cause for disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment or service.
- The Company will fully support employees who make honest, good-faith reports and no one at Aevi may retaliate against an employee who follows this rule. Retaliation is itself a breach of this Code and cause for disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment or service.

Investigation of Suspected Violations

- The Company will fully investigate any suspected violations and all employees are expected to cooperate and to provide complete and truthful information in connection with any investigation.
- If the investigation reveals that an employee acted inconsistently with the Code, other policies, or the law, the employee will be disciplined appropriately, up to and including termination of employment or service and – where warranted – potential legal action

- We must also comply with all applicable anti-money laundering laws. Immediately report to your manager, your legal team or your compliance officer any unusual or suspicious activities or transactions, such as:

- attempted payment in cash or from an unusual financing source; arrangements that involve the transfer of funds to or from countries or entities unrelated to the transaction or customer;
